Management commentary

Economic Figures:

In July, strong employment figures particularly impacted the markets. Job creation jumped to 147k while expectations were at 106k, and the unemployment rate, which was expected to rise to 4.3%, was ultimately published at 4.1%. However, the average wage slightly decreased to 0.2% (versus 0.3% expected), representing an annualized increase of 3.7%. Consumer prices came out close to consensus. The CPI index rose by 0.3% over the month, or 2.7% annualized (versus 2.6% expected). The core index (excluding food and energy) increased by 0.2%, or 2.9% annualized (in line with expectations). However, the evolution of prices revealed that several categories of goods were impacted by the initial increases in customs duties.

The ISM surveys of purchasing managers rebounded compared to last month: ISM Manufacturing came in at 49 (versus 48.8 last month) and ISM Services at 50.8 (50.5 last month). The composite PMI also rose to 54.6 (versus 52.9 last month).

Retail sales jumped to +0.6% compared to -0.9% last month.

The consumer confidence index measured by the University of Michigan increased for the second consecutive month to 61.8, and inflation expectations once again moderated, to 4.4% over a one-year horizon.

The Beige Book published on July 16 confirmed that the US economy continued to slow but also that, across all districts, a moderate increase in prices was observed.

Finally, US growth for the second quarter (first estimate) came out at the end of July at 3% (versus 2.6% expected).

Monetary Policy:

As expected, following the July 30 monetary policy meeting and for the fifth consecutive time, the FED kept the Fed funds rate unchanged in a range between 4.25% and 4.50%. The decision to keep the key rates unchanged was not unanimous, however, as two FED members (Michelle Bowman and Christophe Waller) were in favor of a rate cut. The statement from this FOMC highlights that growth moderated during the first half of the year, the labor market remains strong, and inflation is somewhat elevated.

Following this FOMC, perceived as "hawkish," markets were anticipating 40 bps of cumulative rate cuts by year-end, whereas markets were still expecting 65 bps of cuts at the end of June.

Market Environment:

During the month, the US yield curve appreciated by about twenty basis points, mainly due to strong US employment figures, but also thanks to tariff agreements concluded with several countries such as Vietnam, Japan, and the European Union.

The various agreements on customs duties and the stabilization of geopolitical risks benefited the credit market:

The spread versus swap of the US 1-3 year Investment Grade Corporate index thus moved from 80 bps at the end of June to 72 bps at the end of July.

In the money market, top-tier issuer rates at the end of July were at 4.38%, 4.36%, and 4.29% respectively for 3, 6, and 12-month maturities, stable month-over-month for the 3-month but up 7 bps for the 6-month and 16 bps for the year.

Issuance spreads in the money market slightly tightened, offering levels versus SOFR swaps of +8, 18, and 31 bps respectively for 3, 6, and 12-month maturities.

Management Decisions:

The credit duration of the fund (WAL) increased significantly, rising from 63 days at the end of June to 78 days at the end of July.

The interest rate duration of the portfolio (WAM) was stable month-over-month at 25 days at the end of July.

During the month, the majority of investments were therefore focused on SOFR-indexed securities or those hedged by a SOFR swap. These securities offered an average spread of SOFR+26 bps for an average duration of 9 months.

Several investments were also made in fixed-rate securities with maturities between 1 and 5 months. These securities offered an average yield of 4.45% for an average duration of 3.5 months.

The liquidity pocket was maintained, mainly through overnight deposit operations, repurchase agreements with a 24-hour call on US Treasury bills, and private debt securities with a residual maturity of less than 7 days.

At the end of July, the liquidity pocket and securities with a residual maturity of less than 3 months represented 69% of the portfolio.

The average long-term rating of the securities in the portfolio was AA.

Finally, the credit quality of the portfolio, measured by the "Portfolio Credit Factor" (Fitch) and which cannot exceed the limit of 1.5, stood at 1.2 at the end of the month.

At the end of July, the portfolio yield was 4.38%.

Outlook and Strategies:

The FED continues to face an uncertain economic environment:

In June, the CPI saw its largest monthly increase since January due to goods directly exposed to higher tariffs (clothing, electronics, food). Moreover, overall customs duties now reach 20%, the highest since 1911.

But at the same time, the pace of job creation is slowing, as evidenced by the job openings rate, which at the end of July returned to a low (4.4%) not seen since August 2024.

Strategy for the fund: maintain a credit duration close to end-July levels (WAL). Cautious approach on interest rate duration (WAM) in the absence of clear signals on the US economy.

SRI Terminology

Socially Responsible Investment (SRI)

The SRI expresses sustainable development objectives in investment decisions by adding Environmental, Social and Governance (ESG) criteria in addition to the traditional financial criteria.

SRI thus aims to balance economic performance and social and environmental impact by financing companies and public entities which contribute to sustainable development whatever their business sector. By influencing the governance and behaviour of stakeholders, SRI promotes a responsible economy.

ESG criteria

The criteria are extra-financial criteria used to assess the Environmental, Social and Governance practices of companies, states or local authorities:

"E" for Environment (energy and gas consumption levels, water and waste management, etc.).

"S" for Social/Society (respect for human rights, health and safety in the workplace, etc.).

"G" for Governance (independence of board of directors, respect for shareholders' rights, etc.).

SRI according to Amundi

An SRI portfolio follows these rules :

- 1 - Exclusion of F and G scores¹
- 2 - Overall portfolio rating above the benchmark index/investment universe rating after exclusion of 20% of the lowest rated issuers
- 3 - ESG rating for 90% minimum of portfolio stock²

¹ If an issuer's rating is downgraded to E, the manager has a period of three months in which to sell the security. A tolerance is authorized for buy and hold funds.

² Outstanding securities in terms of ESG criteria excluding cash assets.

³ The investment universe is defined by the fund's reference indicator. If the fund does not have an indicator, it is defined by type of security, geographic zone and investment themes and business sectors.

For more information, we invite you to consult the fund's transparency charter, which is available on the management company's website and on the AFG website <http://www.afg.asso.fr>.

SHORT TERM MONEY MARKET ■

Focus on Environmental, Social and Governance key performance indicators

In addition to the overall ESG assessment of the portfolio and the E, S and G dimensions, the manager uses impact indicators to assess the ESG quality of his portfolio. Four representative indicators of Environment, Social, Human Rights and Governance have been identified. The manager's minimum objective is to deliver a quality score higher than that of the index on at least two of the indicators.

Sources and definitions

1. Environmental indicator/Climate indicator: Carbon intensity (in metric tons of CO₂ per million of revenue). This data is provided by Trucost, This corresponds to companies' annual greenhouse gas emissions expressed in metric tons of carbon dioxide equivalent. (CO₂e). It covers the six greenhouse gases identified in the Kyoto Protocol with emissions converted into global warming potential (GWP) in CO₂ equivalent.

Definition of scopes:

- Scope 1: All direct emissions from sources that are owned or controlled by a company.
- Scope 2: All indirect emissions arising from the purchase or production of electricity, steam or heat.
- Scope 3: All other indirect emissions, upstream and downstream of the value chain. For reasons of data robustness, Amundi has chosen to use emissions from activities upstream of Scope 3
- Source: Trucost EEL-O model (input/output model extended to the Trucost environment).

2. Management diversity: Average percentage of women managers. This indicator gives a more global measure of the advancement of women within the company than the data limited to the number of women Board members. Data provider: Refinitiv

3. Human Rights Compliance Indicator: percentage of companies with policies that exclude forced or obligatory child labor or that guarantee freedom of association and which are applied universally regardless of local laws. This indicator enables better assessment of fundamental human rights issues. Data provider: Refinitiv

4. Board independence: average percentage of independent directors on the Board of Directors. Data provider: Refinitiv

For these 4 indicators, the total for the portfolio/investment universe is equal to the companies' average for these indicators adjusted for their weight in the portfolio/investment universe.
